

BWXT Releases 2025 Sustainability Report

March 19, 2025

LYNCHBURG, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 19, 2025-- BWX Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: BWXT) released its 2025 Sustainability Report today, featuring a new structure centered around People, Planet and Principles. As BWXT continues to focus on its core businesses while growing its capabilities, a commitment to all aspects of sustainability within these three pillars can be a driver for enduring financial success.

This year's report highlights BWXT's efforts as a responsible corporate citizen, including key metrics that underscore BWXT's ongoing commitment to transparency, insights from employees and community partners and detailed impact stories.

One such story focuses on Training Manager Leslie Barbour, who is located at the BWXT site in Barberton, Ohio. Barbour initiated the site's Women in Manufacturing employee resource group in 2022. Membership has tripled since, creating "a supportive network that champions every individual's journey in manufacturing."

"This report demonstrates our core values in action, making lasting, positive impacts for our customers, our people and the communities we serve," said Rex Geveden, BWXT president and CEO. "I invite you to review the report, meet our dedicated team, and learn about our work, from global security to clean energy to life-saving medical isotopes."
