Dan Jablonsky will join BWXT's Board of Directors on March 2.

Jablonsky most recently served as chief executive officer and chairman of Ursa Major, a leading provider of advanced propulsion systems for space and defense applications. He has held senior leadership roles in the aerospace and defense industry for more than a decade. Prior to Ursa Major, Jablonsky served as president and chief executive officer of Maxar Technologies, where he led the NYSE-listed company through a comprehensive turnaround and growth strategy, culminating in a $6.4 billion take-private acquisition by Advent International. Prior to that, he was general counsel and then president of DigitalGlobe. Jablonsky began his career as a surface warfare officer and nuclear engineer in the U.S. Navy before transitioning to law practice.

"We are excited to welcome Dan to BWXT's board," said Jan Bertsch, chair of BWXT's board of directors. "His deep expertise in space technologies, combined with his perspective as an active CEO leading a high-growth aerospace company, will provide valuable insight as BWXT accelerates its growth in the space and defense sectors."

Jablonsky holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the United States Naval Academy, graduated from the Navy Nuclear Power School and earned a Juris Doctor from the University of Washington School of Law.
